Making a visit to New Harmony

By BARBARA BARBIERI

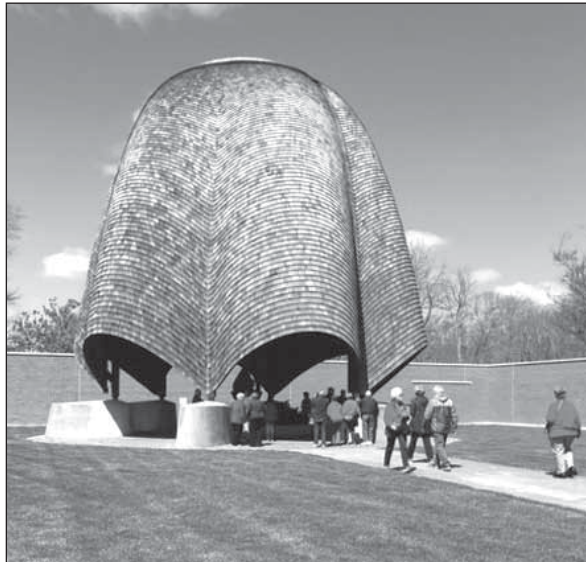

New Harmony is an interesting small community on the banks of the Wabash River in southern Indiana.

My recent Land Cruise bus trip spent part of a day there and I would have been willing to spend more time exploring the little shops lining the Main Street. While we were there several of the colorful storefronts were being refreshed with a new coat of paint.

First we checked out the Atheneum, the historic New Harmony visitors center at 401 N. Arthur St. There visitors are able to learn more about the Harmonists and Owenite sites. Richard Meier was the architect for the building that was completed in 1979. Self-guided walking tours begin here.

The center is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, and is closed holidays. Tours of the building are given at 1 p.m. daily. More information at www.usi.edu/hnh.

Next on the list would be to visit the Roofless Church at 420 W. North St. The non-denominational church was designed by renowned architect Philip Johnson. It is open to the public at no charge. More information at Rober-blaferfoundation.org.

The Cathedral Labyrinth and Sacred Garden is located on North Street, across from the Atheneum and Roofless Church. Visitors may wash their feet in the nearby fountain and walk the Labyrinth in their bare feet.

If art is your thing there are several art galleries to explore: Hoosier Salon Art, 507 E. Church St. (Hoosier art);

Mason-Nordgauer Art Gallery, 510 Main St. (rotating collection); New Harmony Artists' Guild, 421 North St. (local art); and New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art, 506 Main St. (variety of media).

Naturally, dining is part of any visit and although there are many opportunities within walking distance. Our destination was the Red Geranium Restaurant, 520 North St. Hours are Thursday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. More information at newharmonyinn.com/dining.

Church Street choices include Black Lodge Coffee Roaster, American Legion Post 370, Old Mill Mart, Sara's Harmonie Way Too, Sara's Wine & Bier Bar, and the Yellow Tavern.

Also in the area is the Lincoln Boyhood Home Memorial

Also in the area is the Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial, operated by the National Park Service.

The park is open year round and includes a visitors center where the walls are carved with limestone panels depicting places Lincoln lived.
